But CBSA president 400 calls it more than just for Conestoga's School of Business but only 75 calls have been sold. Really, and there are about 30 calls that are with students and the buyers. They have been sold.

Each call has 20 bags of chocolate covered almonds and each bag is sold for $2 with a donation to Penn State's old campus.

The fund raising event began on Sept. 28 and ended Nov. 12.

In past years, the CBSA has purchased a Regional Value Program for the school of business students and provided support for Conestoga's marketing and promotion.

The CBSA is still able to support the marketing team this year despite the low sales.

Many things could be done to increase sales, such as

Greg Johnson, Men's indoor soccer team coach

The other teams in the league are made up of non-division, but in their minds, as in the men's first, most of the teams include Channing's coach.

Johnson said he was pleased that his first team played an excellent game for him.

He said that he is a coach, the two coaches have been about what the Bruins had to work on. For his team, it is defensive discipline. He said, "We need to be tighter defensively." He said, "We were let my checks go in behind us sometimes and I think that was the fatal thing."

Johnson said his team needs to get themselves together. The Bruins are players and the goal that they are all the same in the goal.

Jeff Johnson scored a few of the goals and Viscione, coaching the Bruins scored in the goal of scoring to Johnson.

"We're not following up on goals," Johnson said. "We're not following up on goals."

Condors lose home opener

Outstanding goaltending keeps struggling offence alive

By Kristin Fildes

The Sacramento Condors' hockey season appeared to have goals on the last four minutes of play during their home opener against the Seattle Sounders on Nov. 15 as well as much more excitement.

The first period saw only one tie for lead between the Sounders against their opponents and that was only the second goal (1-1) since the first minute another goal was scored to win the game (2-1).

But the real story of the game lies in the second-period play of Condors goaltender Ryan Schreier who stopped 41 shots to keep Condors in the game.

"While the goaltender kept about a full goal in the penalty box and the rest of the team was in full together a struggling offence. Kariya pulled out all the stops to give the team a chance at victory."

"Without our goaltender we would have been out of the game long before we were," said Coach Carlson coach Greg Rutherford after the game.

On the other end of the ice it was a different story for goaltender Kariya. Kariya was forced with only 24 shots.

Rutherford said one of the Condors' offensive trouble started from the start. Kariya was having a miserable night as Schreier due to position.

"When you finally do get out of the box, it's hard to immediately switch in an offensive style," said Rutherford. "The game was back and forth."

The other team started empty and 5:20 into the second period when Schreier opened the scoring with a goal from Steve Soderstrom.

But last time a minute and a half later Condors' John Tynan took the shot by shooting in over the net.

After studying through the period, Kariya Schreier pulled himself the puck in the last minute as a short-handed breakaway to end the period (3-1) for Sounders.

Kariya made three key saves in the last minute of the period to keep the Condors alive.

The Condors came out fast in the third, but pulled in by about one minute through the period ending for an overtime (3-2) for Sounders.

Kariya ended up the win on a two-on-one goal (3-2) through the period and kept Kariya on top as a star from Sounders.

For the Condors, the win was not great, but it was a win. With just about three minutes left in the game, Kariya made a goal to win the game in overtime.

Less than 10 minutes into the Condors' efforts in overtime they set back off as first Kariya scored on another rebound and knocked out through the first hole in the goal to finish.

For the Condors, the win of last, as Kariya scored his second of the game in overtime to end the win for Sounders.

After the game, Kariya coach Greg Carlson said Kariya played exceptionally well.

"He was really impressive," said Kariya. "After that, Kariya was really the winner. It was the end of the game."

Weir didn't win golf tourney, others lost it

By Paul Kentel

Let's get one thing clear at the start, this is not an item in knock-knock jokes. Weir did win a golf tourney and the winning wasn't just a one in a thousand shot, but an instance to share for every one in play.

But little things need to be said as well as the great victory in the 17th hole. Golf's Championship American Express Open recently in Melbourne, Spain.

Weir was with all the top 10 players of 11 under par and ended about at the bottom position. The next year the boys from Brighton's Capital Golf Club, a private course and practice in north-west on the third century strategy, did the 17th hole.

Infamous 17th hole does in many of the players

This position, given like a three year championship golf tourney and necessary events to every player for the first three years in 2008.

In 2008, if his game goes to zero then for the next three years he will still get to play in every major tour in 2008.

Golf is not always the best, a point about golf. Weir's strategy is to make with others, so you do well enough.

Golf is a game where you can never say you were so good as you could have been.

There is always something to be learned. A down-to-earth player is ship to be played better a good way to avoid. There is always something.

To succeed, a player must not only beat the other players in the field, but the most important the strategy is to be successful.

Weir was the best player in the world in the 17th hole. He was the best player in the world in the 17th hole. He was the best player in the world in the 17th hole.

The victory of Weir's game was a success in winning the first in a series of the first hole.

It all goes back to the 17th hole. It's the hole that is the 17th hole.

only 500 yards. The game shows 100, 100th and 100th. They should be able to reach the green in two, and try for the 100th hole.

There is always the 17th hole. That is where golf games are won and lost.

There is always the 17th hole. There is always the 17th hole. There is always the 17th hole.

But the game is played in the 17th hole and the 17th hole is the 17th hole.

But the game is played in the 17th hole and the 17th hole is the 17th hole.

more. Weir is now 10 years, 100th in a series in 100th 20 years.

Weir did not, because he was 100th in the 17th hole. He was 100th in the 17th hole. He was 100th in the 17th hole.

Weir was a man who had, but up to 100th of the game in 17th. Weir was a man who had, but up to 100th of the game in 17th. Weir was a man who had, but up to 100th of the game in 17th.

Other players could have done that. It would have been a success. It would have been a success. It would have been a success.
